GULF COAST AWAITS GRID CLASSIC OF ST. STANISLAUS, G. C. M. A.

Teams More Evenly Matched Than Ever Before—Both
Have Good Records This Season—Mayor
Proclaims Holiday.

All of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is laid up in anticipation of the football classic of the season, which will take place today (Saturday), when the Gulf Coast Military Academy and Stanislaus College tie up in their annual fracas. This year's game is of especial interest inasmuch as the two teams are more evenly matched than at any time since they have met.

By comparative scores neither team seems to have the advantage. At Gulf Coast Military Academy "Tommy Thomas," a Virginia man who is coaching the squad, has surrounded himself with a bunch of capable youngsters out of which he has developed one of the smartest and fastest eleven ever to represent the Academy. In Dent and Pate he has two of the best football players out of the state.

The Gulfport school has a fairly heavy and fast charging line that has done splendid work all during the year. Clarke is one of the best backfield men in the state. At Stanislaus, the fighting "Rockies" have shown a steadiness and versatility of play that has carried them through the season with only one defeat and that at the hands of L. S. U., from Baton Rouge, by the narrow margin of one touchdown. The Tigers secured through an intercepted forward pass in Schwartz the Rockaways have probably the best quarterback playing in the Southern prep class. He is a triple threat man and runs his team like an old hand, although only playing his second year with the varsity. Bonura at end and Montgomery at center are two other stars that would do credit to any university team. The Bay line is heavy, fast and hard fighting. Glover, Burns, Bradley, Hunter and LaNasa in the backfield are all dangerous.

Mayor Blaize has issued a proclamation that all business houses be closed between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. today (Saturday) and it is certain that a record crowd will be on hand to see this battle royal that is sure to take place in Stanislaus stadium.

In their last game the Gulf Coast Military Academy ran wild over the strong Hines County Aggies and showed a variety of plays and passes that had the embryo farmers completely bewildered. End runs, trick plays, line bucks, forward passes and perfect kicking by Dent all stamped G. C. M. A. as a great bunch of prep footballers. While all this was going on in Gulfport, the Rockaways were giving the baby Tigers the battle of their young lives. In Baton Rouge the S. S. C. boys uncorked a few little deceptions of their own that worried the Bengals quite a deal and it was a most welcome whistle that sounded the termination of the game with the Louisianians on the long end of a short score. Baton Rouge will not soon forget the fighting bunch of youngsters from the Bay college and many heart trepidation caused by the continual threat of the frosh goal line.

BROTHER PETER RECOVERS FROM LONG ILLNESS

After Spending Thirty-One Days in Mercy Hospital, New Orleans, Bro.
Peter, President of St. Stanislaus
College, Is Welcomed Back.

Many local friends (and that takes in the whole of the county) of Bro. Peter, president of St. Stanislaus college, will be glad to learn that he has entirely recovered from the serious illness that confined him to his bed in Mercy hospital, New Orleans, for the past thirty-one days. During one of his trips through Louisiana, just prior to the opening of this term of school, Bro. Peter contracted a case of typhoid fever; he fought hard to overcome what he thought was an ordinary illness but he steadily grew weaker and the fever raged stronger, the college physician diagnosed the ailment and he was forthwith rushed away to the Mercy hospital, where he could get the best of attention.

After his recovery, at the urgent insistence of Brother Edmund, vice-president, and the other brothers of the college, Bro. Peter remained through a period of convalescence before returning home.

In a telephone communication with The Echo, Bro. Peter reports that he is still a bit unsteady, but feels that his strength will return quickly and hopes to be back in harness at an early date. His greatest hardship has been the denial of keeping up with his beloved Rockaways in person, but he is happy to realize that he can see them finish out the season triumphantly. There's no doubt that the team will strive hard to please him in the two remaining games.

FOUR CANDIDATES RUN FOR MISS. GOVERNORSHIP

Bilbo, Riley, Conner and
Anderson in Present
Race.

If history repeat itself the high candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi in the primary next August will hold the coveted office for the next four years.

A gubernatorial candidate with a plurality in the first primary has never been defeated in the second or "run off" contest, a study of the state's political history reveals. Very few men have won a majority over all other candidates in the first primary.

Under the Mississippi law the primary must be held between the first and tenth day of August with the definite date to be fixed by the state executive committee. The usual custom places the election on the first Tuesday.

If no candidate receives a majority over the entire field, a second or run off primary is held three weeks later. Four candidates—Theo. G. Bilbo, George D. Riley, Mike Conner and A. C. Anderson—are now in the field, although the primary is approximately nine months in the future. A decided boom in the interest attached to the campaign is expected during the early part of 1927 when all candidates actively "open up" their campaigns.

The G. Bilbo, former governor who received a majority in the first primary in 1915, has completely retired from a recent operation for appendicitis and is ready to resume the active campaign he began some months ago. During the early part of the week the former governor was studying election records in the state capitol.

"When will you be able to resume your active campaign," he was asked. "Don't you think I look pretty active at present," he replied laughingly as he emerged from the secretary of state's office with several huge volumes in his arms. "I'm back on the job to stay."

Mr. Anderson, representative in the legislature from Tippah, is still incapacitated as the result of an operation for a carbuncle between his shoulders. It will probably be several weeks before he will be able to actively resume his speaking engagements.

Mike Conner, who has made speeches in several parts of the state, and who has extended an invitation to joint debate to any and all candidates, is actively engaged in his campaign at present. Mr. Conner was for eight years speaker of the Mississippi House of Representatives and was a gubernatorial candidate in 1923.

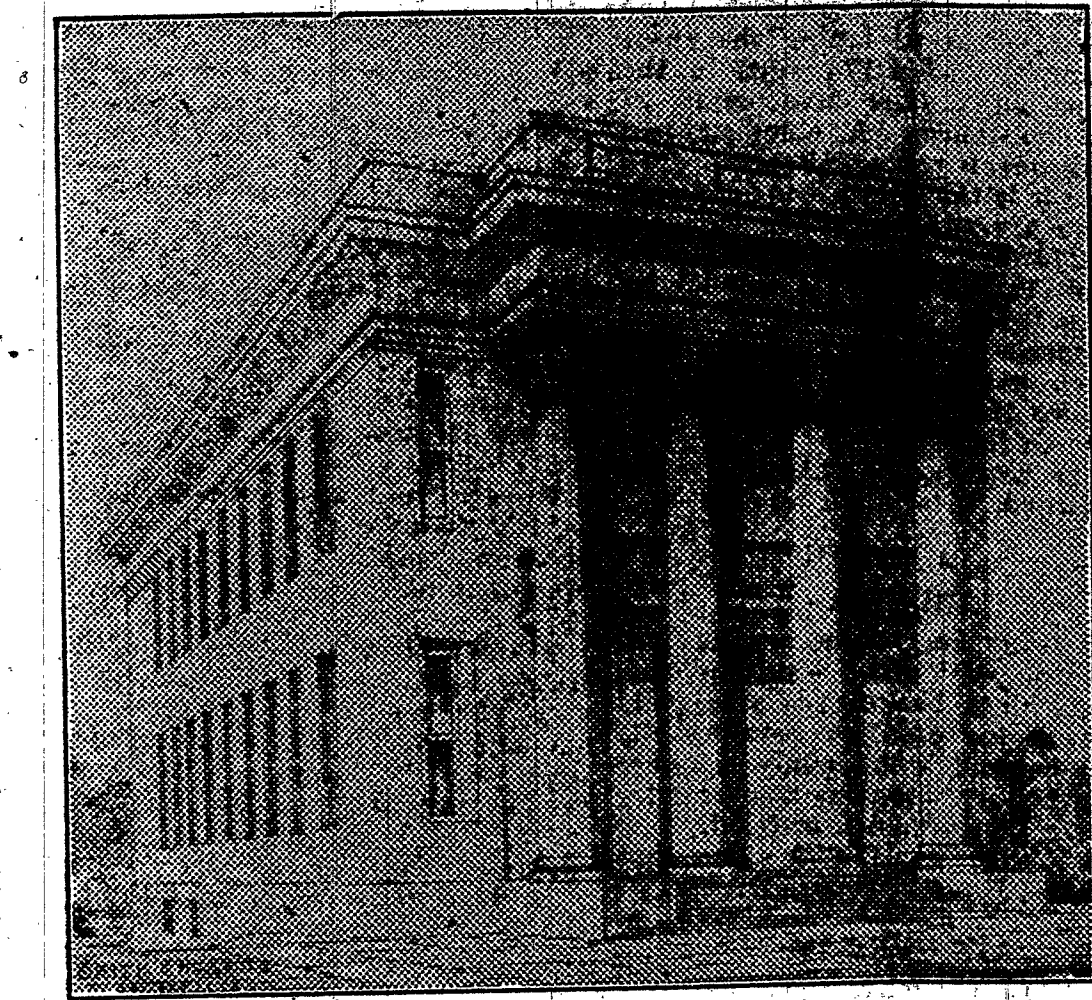

George I. Riley, state auditor, who lives at Houston, Chickasaw county, has not begun his active campaign before the people, but is preparing to take the field next spring. He has emphatically stated that he is in the race to stay and will begin his campaign at the proper time.

There is also considerable speculation as to the total vote that will be polled in the primary this year. It is known that considerable more voters are eligible than ever before and the size of the vote will depend largely upon the number registering. Records for the past thirty-one days show that the total voters cast in the run off primary in 1919 was 146,994, as compared with a total of 252,858 in the Bilbo-Whitfield contest in 1923.

Going back to the contest between James E. Vardaman and P. A. Critz in 1907, the high man in the first Mississippi Democratic primary has always landed in the governor's chair. This was true four years later when Governor E. F. Noel of Holmes county defeated Earl Brewer in the 1907 election. Brewer was unopposed in 1912. J. G. Hightower withdrawing from the race.

In 1915 Governor Bilbo won in the first primary over a field composed of Marion W. Riley, then of Natchez, but now of Meridian; John C. Tatey, of Hattiesburg; William M. Quinn, of Hinds county, and former State Treasurer Stovall.

MARGIN OF VICTORIES HELD BY AGGIES

Possibly 10,000 Spectators
Will Witness Annual State Contest.

BY BEN HILBUN,
Echo Correspondent.

A. & M. College, Miss., Nov. 19.—On Thanksgiving Day the Mississippi A. & M. college and University of Mississippi football teams meet on the A. & M. college campus for their twenty-fourth annual struggle for state gridiron honors.

Since 1901 the teams have engaged in twenty-three contests, A. & M. winning seventeen and losing five and deadlocking another. Although the margin of victory is held by the Aggies all games have been hotly contested, many of them being won by very lean scores.

Both institutions boast strong squads this year. In fact, they are pretty evenly matched. Ole Miss. has an advantage in weight over the Aggies which is always an important factor. On the other hand the Aggies have enjoyed a more successful season than their rivals so far as games won effect their standing. But taking everything into consideration they are about as near on an equal as it is possible to estimate.

The Thanksgiving game will be the first between the two teams to be staged on the campus since 1918. That year two meetings were staged, one here and one at Oxford. Since then annual tilts have been conducted on neutral ground.

Last year the Aggies won a hard-fought affair at Jackson, 6-0, the lone touchdown being scored late in the game. With Ole Miss. boasting a much stronger combination this year, and the Aggies about as strong as last season, the result of the pending game cannot be predicted. Both teams are bent on victory which insures an epic struggle.

Preparations are being made for entertaining the largest crowd ever to assemble here for a football game. Extra bleachers are being erected that will boost the total seating capacity to approximately 10,000. Requests for reservations pouring into the athletic department indicate that a capacity crowd will be in attendance.

The game starts at 2 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 25.

Pearl River Bridge To Be Opened Monday

Frank E. David, secretary of the Louisiana Highway Commission, has advised C. Gordon Bailey, manager of the Motor League of Louisiana, that the bridge across West Pearl river on the Old Spanish Trail will be opened to the public on Monday, November 22.

Our sister city across the bay is to be congratulated on its enterprise and congratulated on having such progressive municipal administration to make possible the immediate construction of a city hall that will not only prove an acquisition to Pass Christian, fast growing and building, but a distinct addition to the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast. The administration of Mayor J. H. Spence has been productive of material and marked improvement. Associated with Mayor Spence on the executive board are Aldermen Bernard Chotard, Ward 1; H. Hansen, Ward 2; W. T. Wood, Ward 3; E. Paralta, Ward 4; E. Smith, Ward 5.

Building to cost $25,000.00. A recent bond issue successfully voted will take care of the cost of the building, representing an outlay of $25,000.00. In addition to this amount Pass Christian has in its corporate treasury $15,000 for the building of a public pier, and $20,000 for a new colored public school building. A total bond issue of $60,000.

Beilheimer & Small, of Gulfport, are contractors and builders. It is planned to sell the present city hall building to the highest bidder for $15,000. The new one will be built of brick, stucco trimmings, two stories. On the first floor are to be located the executive offices, with a public auditorium on the second, and seating capacity of 500. The new building will occupy the same site occupied at present by the old one, on the beach side of Front street.

The Echo wishes to congratulate its progressive neighbor across the bay. Its growth the last twelve-month period has been productive of building and substantial improvement without a parallel.

DOING GOOD WORK FOR MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST

The following letter explains itself. We are ardently interested in the future development of the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast and the Bay St. Louis and Waveland sections, and any expression along constructive spirit and force is always duly appreciated.

If we are going to build let us build. Boosting will help to build. New Orleans, Nov. 9, 1926.

Mr. Chas. G. Moreau, Editor and Publisher The Echo, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Sir: The writer has been reading The Echo from week to week with interest and I take this occasion to commend you most highly for the good work which you are doing for Hancock county and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Having been associate editor of the Baton Chronicle and the Southern Farmer for three years and advertising manager of the American Press for five years, I feel in position not only to judge your paper from the standpoint of a layman, but also from the viewpoint of a journalist of some experience. The news columns of The Echo are live, crisp and wholesome, fighting fearlessly for right and hounding over at all times with praise for Hancock county first, yet having a broad vision as to the future of the entire Gulf Coast.

K. OF C. MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD FOR DEPARTED MEMBERS

Pay Tribute to Memory of Departed Brothers—Gone
But Who Are Here
in Memory.

REV. H. SPENGLER
PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Scene of Ceremony at K. C.
Home on Thursday Evening
Witnessed By Membership.

In accordance with custom, Pere Le Duc Council, No. 1522, Knights of Columbus, held memorial services at the K. C. home in Main street, on Thursday night, commemoration of the memory of thirteen members who have traveled that bourne from which no traveler returns.

There were thirteen vacant chairs, with the name of each absentee therein, and as the roll was called these names, too, were included. After the call of each of the response of "absent" was solemnly voiced.

The names following are the deceased members of the local council: T. H. Herlihy, N. T. Mauffray, William Frank, Jr., Clarence Rahm, Joseph Scaffie, Alphonse Fahney, John Conner, James P. Freret, Anthony Scaffie, Joseph F. Casenave, Battistella, P. J. McGee, Geo. Mallard.

Rev. Father Hubert Spengler, of Gulfport, was the principal speaker of the evening. His subject, "Our Dead," was handled with thought and feeling and left a deep impress.

Paul Worthy Grand Master Jos. G. Mauffray also delivered a few remarks reflecting thoughts of beauty and solemnity. The meeting was presided over by Worthy Grand Master A. G. Favre and the full complement of other officers. Rev. Father Leo F. Fahney, lecture was at the head of an arched program. Father Balthasar, Father Gmelch and Father Shearer, with other members, formed the choir organized for the solemn occasion. Solos, a duet and chorus, singing by well-selected voices, formed an effective musical program.

The names of the departed brethren are all of citizens well known in our midst, all worthy of the lofty tribute paid each and their lives outstanding exemplary to others.

THANKSGIVING PROGRAM GIVEN AT TAYLOR SCHOOL

Taylor School Presents Appropriate
Thanksgiving Program—Parent-
Teachers Hold Regular Monthly Meeting—Supt. Ingram Speaks.

The pupils of R. W. Taylor School entertained on Friday, Nov. 19th, with a Thanksgiving program as follows:

A group of songs by the pupils—"Sunlight Moonlight," "Two Ducks," "Over the River and Through the Woods," "Thanksgiving" Song, the P. T. A. song.

A Thanksgiving Dream—Homer Carmichael. A Crostic, Harvest—Eight pupils. The Corn Song—Mildred Collins. Pilgrims—Five little girls. Reading and Song—Ten Little Pumpkins, by the primary grades. Mother Nature and Her Fruits—By the girls of the Fourth and Fifth grades.

At the close of the program Mr. Ingram made a short talk to the crowd, very much to the delight of the school children. At the close of the program we held our regular monthly meeting of the Taylor P. T. A. with eighteen members present and two visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Ingram were the important matters were discussed some plans made and just watch for the next school notes. We will be ready to tell it all next time.

INSTRUCTION IN RED CROSS FIRST AID SAFETY FACTOR

Its Educational and Industrial
Service Spreads
Throughout the
U. S.

Signs that the United States is awake to the menace of its increasing accident toll are apparent in the growing interest in first aid instruction as offered by experts of the American Red Cross.

Approximately 20,000 juniors and seniors completed the First Aid course during the fiscal year, passed rigid examinations and received Red Cross First Aid certificates. This represents an increase of 2,500 over the preceding year, and this gain is attributed to the emphasis on health education by various public bodies including not alone the American Red Cross and Government agencies, but life and accident insurance companies, and athletic and recreational groups.

In Dallas, Texas, playground supervisors are required to hold First Aid certificates. In many high schools the subject is included in the regular curriculum. In order to assist in training instructors for this phase of the work, special courses have been conducted in the summer schools of such leading institutions as the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia. Instruction was continued during the year at Loyola University, New Orleans; University of California, San Francisco; University of Kentucky; Temple University, Philadelphia; Peabody Teachers' College, and similar educational centers.

Work with the public utilities group has shown an exceptional increase during the year. Classes conducted by fourteen of the associated Bell Telephone companies were continued with increased interest and a number of the companies sponsored Red Cross courses in First Aid for instructors.

The First Aid Instruction Car of the Red Cross was busy throughout the year. In the 125 cities visited by the car 900 meetings were held with an aggregate attendance of 94,000 persons.

Membership of the people in the American Red Cross makes such services possible, the annual opportunity of pledging support through membership being offered in the Roll Call from November 11 to 25 this year.

CHICAGOIANS BUY CUT-OVER TRACT IN MISSISSIPPI

Chicago Organizations Buy 21,000
Acres of Cut Over Land in Pinehurst Subdivision of Biloxi—Third
Million Dollars Involved.

The biggest Mississippi land deal in recent months was consummated Tuesday afternoon when 21,000 acres of cut-over area was sold to a Chicago organization for more than a third million dollars. The land lies in Jones and Wayne counties and in the Pinehurst subdivision of Biloxi.

It was purchased by the Strauss Investment company, of Chicago, and the negotiations were carried on by R. L. Bullard, Hattiesburg attorney. It will be used for colonization purposes and the initial purchase price is said to represent but a small part of the expenditures later to be made by the holders.

The greater part of the land is in Jones county. While no official announcement has been made as to the future plans of the company it is known that scores of foreign language societies in the Chicago district and the Middle West, as well as hundreds of individuals, have been endeavoring to become associated with some colonization organization operating in South Mississippi.

The Strauss organization purchased outright the Hickory firm. The Strauss company, it became known, with some purchases of these large holdings located in sections now in the greatest demand in Mississippi, has centered its investments in this part of Mississippi. It plans colonizing on a systematic method, the great areas of cutover land which may be bought for a nominal sum and which have proven more valuable to their owners than the expensive acreages of the Northwest. The Strauss organization paid slightly more than $14 an acre for the tract.

Crossing the goal line in the program and budget campaign for the Mississippi Coast club, canvassing committees at Pascagoula, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis have successfully wound up local responsibilities in the coast-wide drive and have given generous aid in financing the work of the club during the current twelve months. The general campaign goal was $60,000.

At Biloxi, Pass Christian, Long Beach and Ocean Springs committees are nearing the completion of the local campaigns and there is every assurance that with the passage of a few additional hours campaign will demonstrate its interest by subscribing for the full quota asked when the campaign was launched four weeks ago.

The amounts subscribed in full thus far are: Gulfport, $20,185; Pascagoula, $2,550; Bay St. Louis, $3,525. At Biloxi the Thursday report showed $17,010, with many prospects yet to be heard from. Biloxi started one day behind other Coast cities. At Pass Christian the total subscribed has climbed to $2,075, and at Ocean Springs, where the going has been found hard by Chairman Henry L. Girott and his cohorts, the total subscribed is $1,000, with additional prospects yet to announce final action.

New Orleans investors in Gulf Coast property have taken official notice of the coast campaign and have banded together under the chairmanship of Col. James E. Edmonds, executive vice-president of the Johnson Realty and Securities company with an announced program of securing in the southern metropolis a substantial sum to add to the funds already raised by coast communities.

At Chicago the heaven is working and in a telegram received Thursday at the offices of the club, J. F. Cornille writes as follows:

"Chicago group at meeting today subscribed approximately $17,500 with understanding that total of $25,000 will be raised here. We hope to be successful in this effort. Please assure our friends on the coast that the necessity is for the most part an intelligent advertising and public campaign and that if they do their share we will endeavor to do ours. Best wishes to you and your associates for a successful campaign."

Viewed at the outset as a difficult matter, the coast campaign is now practically assured of complete success. In a statement to workers all along the coast, issued Thursday evening, General Chairman Edgar Beale said:

"We have successfully carried through the most important and difficult campaigns with which the coast region has been faced. The Mississippi Coast Club, born last year, is still a little new for all to be fully convinced of the value of its work, but to those of us who have been close to the operations of this organization and have seen the widespread interest its national advertising program has created, and the effectiveness of representing the entire coast to large delegations of visitors, there is no question that the work is far too valuable for us to ever consider discontinuing it."

"There are still some who have not had our opportunities to become convinced of the value of the work of the club and with these citizens we can afford to be patient, which further work we have seen, I believe that in another year or two the recognition of the far-reaching and valuable services of the club will be the best demonstration of the need for the organization. It does not overlap the work of local clubs, but it does give us an all-coast body through which the long-sighted citizens of the Coast can do much to bring about the early accomplishment of our dreams for this region."

"I am proud to have served as the chairman for the campaign and I am deeply grateful to all our workers, in every community for the splendid cooperation they have rendered. To them goes the credit for our victory."

There is still a little work to do at Bay St. Louis and the local committee under the chairmanship of Chas. G. Moreau and the vice-chairmanship of George R. Rea are continuing to clean up the outstanding details so that the full value of the campaign educational work may be realized.

NEW METHODIST MINISTER WILL SPEAK TOMORROW

Rev. S. F. Harkley, Successor to Rev. J. G. Galloway, Pastor Main Street Methodist Church, to Make Initial Preachment Tomorrow.

Rev. S. F. Harkley, the new Methodist minister assigned to the Bay St. Louis charge, will preach at the Main Street Methodist church, Bay St. Louis, tomorrow, Sunday, November 21st.

He will appear at the 11 o'clock morning services and again during the evening at 7:45 o'clock services. Succeeding Rev. J. G. Galloway, he will be given a warm welcome and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

ONLY A MATTER OF TIME.

That Bay St. Louis and Waveland as well are destined to greatness in a sense of development is not to be doubted. The location of this section of the Coast, its close proximity to New Orleans and advantages that instantly multiply with a little thought. In view of the fact we are engaged in major development work and ready for other on the Waveland end of this section leaves no room for doubt. A matter of time only, and a short time at that.

NOT FIGHTING THE L. & N.

There is a disposition existing in some quarters that the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and Sea Coast Echo, in their refusal of the L. & N.'s disposition to reroof and remodel the plumbing of the present depot rookery, rather than build a new building, commensurate with the growth and beauty of the city, are combined in fighting the railroad. Nothing could be more remote. We are exceedingly friendly to all concerned and jointly with the railroad's interests, but with the Chamber of Commerce plan to fight for a new and modern designed depot building to the very finish. Representing the people, we feel they are entitled to this consideration.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

It is rather early to talk Christmas shopping but there is no reason why all of us should wait until the night before Christmas to do our trading. This is a good time for the buyers to visit the stores and inspect their offerings. Before long the stocks will begin to run short through the buying of early and wise shoppers.

Many a resident of Bay St. Louis will wait until the last minute and then, unable to find anything that is suitable, will exclaim: "The stores seem to have nothing." The truth is our stores are filled with excellent merchandise and a little effort on the part of the buyers will disclose the fact.

Bay St. Louis is divided into more than one business section and failure to find one thing at one place does not necessarily mean it cannot be purchased at another store in another section.

While The Echo has always urged our people to buy in Bay St. Louis whenever possible we have time and again called to the attention of the merchants, through our columns, the duty which they have in this matter. No merchant who lines his shelves with goods and fails to advertise them in a proper manner should complain if his natural customers go to New Orleans or Gulfport to purchase goods that are properly advertised.

The art of selling is two-fold; first, have the goods; second, let your customers know that you have the goods. We have no quarrel with a merchant who does not like newspaper advertising. That is his privilege. We refer to those merchants who use no kind of advertising. But in the first and last analysis we believe newspaper advertising has no equal and in the end is the cheapest. We print circulars and posters, but are sincere in the opinion that few people read them seriously.

CHEAPER THANKSGIVING DINNER.

Farmers will be interested in reading the following Washington dispatch, giving figures explaining why Thanksgiving dinner, this year, will be cheaper than last year. The farmer, producing an abundance of food, will sit to his table, conscious of the fact that his supplies have caused others to enjoy cheaper dinners. That is about all that he has to be thankful for. Here is the Washington item:

Of course, the first item on the house-wife's list will be turkey. She will find that in Texas, the leading producing state, 115 per cent. more fowls were raised this year, and early prices on turkey are 3 cents a pound less than last season.

Cranberries will be as low as 10 cents a pound, as the Eastern crop has been reported successful, with larger ones in Wisconsin and the northwest. The pumpkin will be less than $1 a barrel in some sections. Lower lettuce prices are expected, while celery will show a wide range of price, reflecting uneven quality.

The greatest contribution to the "show fund" will come possibly from the item "potatoes, sweet and white." The white potato will sell at about one-third less than last season and sweet potatoes at one-half to two-thirds of the price of the early crop.

Although two million boxes of oranges were blown off by the Florida hurricane a large California crop has assured an ample supply at moderate prices. Grapefruit is expected to be at its normal price and apples will be a holiday market feature. Grapes will retail in 12-quart baskets from 50 to 75 cents, and the peach crop is larger, particularly the wild variety.

ROTARY "FAIR PLAY."

The code of ethics of International Rotary will appear before a law court in Vienna, Austria, according to a recent news dispatch. The effect given it in the suit will be watched with interest.

Its injection in the proceedings came this way: a number of the Vienna club received the agency from a manufacturer in the club to sell his goods in Holland; when he got there he found other agents at work also, and he brought suit.

The manufacturer answered that his contract did not prohibit him sending other agents, whereupon his fellow-member replied that he thought such a clause unnecessary in view of his fellow-member's affiliation with Rotary and that his conduct was in violation of the Rotary principle of fair play.

Will the court recognize the binding obligation of such a Code of Ethics between the members of the club? The Echo is of the firm opinion the courts will recognize such code, provided there is no law to conflict, and surely no just or equitable law can conflict with the service ethics as set forth by International Rotary.

BUYING TESTIMONIALS.

Hygeia, a health magazine of the American Medical association, declares that for a few hundred dollars an advertiser can buy the name of a stage or movie star to foot an indorsement of any product he purveys, and the advertiser may write his own testimonial. A Chicago firm holds the testimonial rights to the names of a larger group of screen and stage stars. One business house was offered the name of thirteen such stars for testimonial purposes.

The public seems to be susceptible to just such bunk. The purchase of a star's name gives the advertiser the right to have one special picture, according to a specified pose. This will probably be interesting to American citizens who have purchased something or other because some famous celebrity has "approved" it. Why such testimonials should influence the buying public is hard to determine from the standpoint of common sense but as a matter of fact, advertisers know that they did. Whether they will in the future depends upon the news of how their testimonials are bought being generally discovered.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL.

The Red Cross Roll Call is now under way. We hope the people of Hancock County will not overlook this important and useful organization. It seems that everyone could spare the small sum of one dollar in order to assist in an enterprise of widespread relief.

A contribution to the Red Cross, through the form of a membership, is an unselfish contribution, given largely through a genuine desire to help others. No one can tell what community will require sudden relief from overwhelming disaster, but, wherever, and whenever the roll call comes the Red Cross will be ready if the American people support it properly.

POSTHUMOUS HUMOR.

An eccentric Canadian recently died and his will is a curiosity. $750,000 is left to seven Methodist preachers who have been fighting for prohibition but it is all invested in brewery stock and he makes the bequest conditional upon their drawing the dividends and vote in the management of ten years. He says he wanted to see "whether their aversion for money was greater than their principles." He also left $25,000 worth of race track stock to three ardent opponents of race-track gambling. He was a rare soul and at death played his little joke, although those he remembered will hardly catch the humor of the situation.

CURRENT COMMENT

BY HARRY STUART SAUCIER.

DIED—QUEEN FONTANA.

While the whole country is still raving over Marie of Rumania, out in California there is a notable ruler who has just passed away. A queen who leaves behind her an unsurpassed record of production and a host of descendants numbering 400,000.

This is Queen Fontana, of Fontana, Cal., the hen who accomplished the remarkable feat of laying the famous number of 1,174 eggs in the short period of her five years of earthly existence. A clucking and cackling queen par excellence.

When it is taken into consideration that the average hen's life capacity is but 270 eggs, one can readily comprehend the prestige obtained by Fontana. That's the kind of queen that appeals to us Americans, we enjoy their songs during the day, for we realize that it means gastronomic delights to follow.

Unlike the queens that are feted and fawned, these give all and take little.

INURED.

The other day while a man was passing between two automobiles, both machines back-fired in rapid succession, he paid no heed to the explosion and was calmly walking away when an inquisitive bystander asked him if he wasn't startled.

"No, 'No, sir, I'm used to that and worse, I live in Herrin, Ill."

WE NEED IT.

The Bay Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club are behind the movement to get a new depot for Bay St. Louis, and are doing their level best to convince the L. & N. R. R. Co. that it is a crying necessity.

The present structure has served several generations; true it has, at times, been renovated and repaired and made to look fresh, but the fact is outstanding that the old building has served its day and requires one other to take its place that will be more in keeping with the wide-awake spirit of the times and commensurate with the rapid development of our beautiful city.

The "Ellen N" has begun to show a great interest in the Bay. They have a large force of men at work on their extensive grounds, transforming what was a wilderness into a thing of beauty. Hundreds of palms and shrubs have been set out. What was simply a ravine running through the grounds is now a babbling brook with pretty sloping banks planted in winter grass.

In view of the foregoing facts, we feel that this great trunk line is really contenting the erection of a modern depot, and will readily accede to the appeals of our civic bodies. Superintendent Bose recognizes the necessity and will act.

MISTER T. RAJE.

A blare of bugles and a rattle of drums announced the fact that a queen was here to see us. She is still a "headliner," still "seeing" us.

A quiet man of swarthy complexion, with piercing sloe eyes and the cognomen of Mr. T. Raje, passed the U. S. officials at Ellis Island some time ago and entered the country through New York City.

He was a Maharaja of India. A bad Maharaja who had done some naughty and terrible things in his own land (as others of his stamp have done for ages), but a Maharaja anyhow, a potentate from the golden cities.

Had he blared a few trumpets in advance agent stuff, even though his reputation had been sort of smoky, there are those here who would have fallen all over themselves to honor him. But he showed the wisdom of the east and entered quietly. He's visiting our Rockies for what they're worth and declares he came here to really see America.

DOROTHY'S WEEKLY LETTER.

Conducted Especially For The Sea Coast Echo.

Dear Girls:

As Thanksgiving Day approaches do we stop long enough in our busy whirl of work or gaiety to think of some of the things for which we should be thankful.

Most of us lose the real spirit of the day by giving the turkey or an elaborate meal the most of our thoughts and attention.

Everybody on our street is having a big dinner and to keep up our prestige we just must make an effort to shine with the best of them. And then the day comes and we sit down and eat and eat and probably go to the movie afterwards and then we come home, take a dose of soda water and go to bed.

I am not above relishing turkey and the rest of a good dinner myself, to far be it from me to give the impression that I am in favor of abolishing turkey on Thanksgiving day. By all means have a nice dinner if you can afford it but don't let it eclipse everything else.

Did it ever occur to you how much more we have to be thankful for than the pilgrims, who held the first Thanksgiving feast had.

Think of living in as cold a climate as they lived in without steam heat or bath tubs. Think of sleeping in thick underwear and night caps. Think of breaking ice to get drinking water and of having no plumbing, think of the scarcity of physicians—remember that those of the day believe in blood letting as the principle remedy for all ills.

It is amazing how many things we should be thankful for. Let us thank God for this next Thanksgiving Day.

We women should be particularly glad that we are no longer classified with children and persons of unsound mind in the eyes of the law, and that such splendid educational opportunities are granted to our children today which were formerly reserved for only the wealthy families.

Let us have our lovely dinner this November with the children or friends but give a part of your day to real Thanksgiving. Let your children know that the day means much more than things to eat and a holiday from school.

Cordially Yours,
DOROTHY.

5 DIE, 19 HURT AS RESCUERS RUSH TO WRECK OF PAN-AMERICAN IN TENNESSEE

Two rescue crews of 20 men each racing through the night from different stations to offer first aid to passengers injured when one of the South's best known trains was derailed near Hendersonville, Tenn., last Wednesday night, met disaster themselves when the rail motors which were carrying them collided at Portland, Tenn., killing five and injuring nineteen of their number, six probably fatally.

The Pan-American was derailed when it struck an automobile, killing two occupants of the car. No serious injuries resulted to the passengers of the train, being protected by the all-steel coaches.

RECORD OF RED CROSS RELIEF WORK IN FLORIDA

Bay St. Louis Contributions Helped 13,500 Families and Restored 3,000 Homes—Great Work of Relief Near End—Much Succor Rendered.

Since Bay St. Louis and Hancock County raised approximately $250.00 as contribution to the voluntary fund for Red Cross relief work in Florida, it is interesting to note a telegram from Washington, stating the American Red Cross, in the hurricane disaster area in Florida, has given a measure of aid to 13,500 families and permanently rehabilitated the nearly 3,000 more.

Within another four months have passed the Red Cross announced today, the rehabilitation work will have been completed and families again can pick up the lives which were rudely disordered when devastating winds swept the southern tip of the state.

Henry M. Baker, director of Red Cross disaster relief, said today that awards to Florida families for rebuilding and repairing their homes are being granted at the rate of 135 a day. Twenty thousand families, he added, had applied for relief.

Bay St. Louisans and Hancock countians will be gratified to learn of the amount of relief rendered, especially since they contributed a part, comparatively as small as it may seem.

Donald Marshall is president of the Hancock county Red Cross unit, with George R. Rea, treasurer, the bulk of the money realized locally was by a special solicitation through the columns of The Sea Coast Echo, under auspices of the Rotary club.

Murders Child While Drunk

A drunken man, in Missouri, invaded the home of a married woman, in the absence of her husband, and while attempting to attack the wife, cut the throat of a three-year old girl.

He was captured and placed in jail. The next morning, in jail, he was told of what he had done. Thereupon he attempted to cut his throat and seriously wounded himself.

This man is an excellent exhibition to explain why the great body of American citizens have voted to take whisky away from all men. He had sense enough to realize the enormity of his crime, was good enough to feel terrible remorse over his brutal murder, conscience-stricken enough to try to take his own life, but he did not have sense enough not to drink liquor.

DRYS FIND $20,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR ON BILOXI LAUNCH

The most important activity of the prohibition department in this district over the week-end was the seizure at Biloxi, Miss., of the motor launch Star and a liquor cargo valued by agents at $20,000.

Three men were arraigned before United States Commissioner Victor Kotel on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act in connection with the seizure. They were Frank Britt, Martin Campo and Norman L. Arud.

Husband's Sewing Circle.

BY WALTER ALLISON.
News Item—Feminine sex fast taking man's place in world affairs.

The husband's sewing circle met at the home of Mr. Will Gabb yesterday afternoon. The living room was beautifully decorated with bills past due.

Mr. Gabb had on a charming afternoon coat of violet pink crepe, with green organdie trousers above his knees.

The object of the meeting was to mend wives' lingerie and cuss out the telephone service.

Dishwater tea and A. & P. soda crackers were beautifully served by the attractive soci of Mr. Gabb, who entered the living room decorated in a beautiful Elgin wrist watch.

All the members whispered to each other how rotten the refreshments were, and the host was complimented upon serving such a splendid course.

The husbands opened their sewing bags, formed a circle about the house cat, and dis (cussed) everyone in town.

Mr. Victor Smell started darning a pair of his wife's hose and six carpenters were ordered from the lumber yard to remove the west end of the living room.

Mr. Gabb threw open the doors to the sun parlor so the circle could see Mr. Pluto Castoria's new girlish bob. Everyone thought it was such a bright idea.

Mr. Amos Sink told the circle that husbands should be left more house money or be allowed to take in boarders, and everybody applauded but the armless rocker.

Slim Income said his wife had promised him a new fur coat when she got her increase, but the boss gave her a raise in an elevator.

The circle meets next week in the railroad roundhouse. Husbands are requested to let the wives go without their dinner, and be there promptly at 1:30.

SEARCH STATE FOR MELBY GIRL THOUGHT KIDNAPED

Sheriff's offices throughout Mississippi today were searching for Dollie K.ichen, 15-year-old school girl, who mysteriously disappeared from her home at Melby, seven miles west of Sumrall, on the Mississippi Central railroad, last week. She is the daughter of Jart Kitchen, a Lamar county farmer. He believes the girl was kidnaped.

According to Callie Kitchen, 18-year-old sister, the two girls were seated in an automobile with two young men in front of their home last Sunday night, when another car drove up. A girl whose voice they thought they recognized, called for Dollie, and when she went to the auto she was dragged inside and the car sped away.

The missing girl weighs between 90 and 95 pounds and is a blonde.

BLAST OF SHELL BURIED DURING WAR KILLS 12

Queen Marie Cancels Tour; to Take First Ship Out N. Y.

Queen Marie went direct from Louisville, Ky., to New York Thursday night and will sail for home on the first available steamer.

Queen Marie called on her official family and American advisers just before she began a tour of Louisville and told them of her wish to abandon all features of the remainder of her tour.

Cable advices, which were not made public by Marie but which were understood to have recorded a serious development in the King's illness, caused her majesty to announce that most of the remainder of the tour would be abandoned.

Cancellation of social functions affected out of minor details was only so far as the official ball was concerned. Prince Nicolas and Princess Ileana, however, planned to go through with the entire program.

AUTO GOING 85 MILES AN HOUR WRECKS HOUSE IN CRYSTAL SPRINGS.

Three young men in an automobile, traveling at an estimated speed of 85 miles an hour, crashed into a store house in Crystal Springs, Miss., last week and destroyed the building.

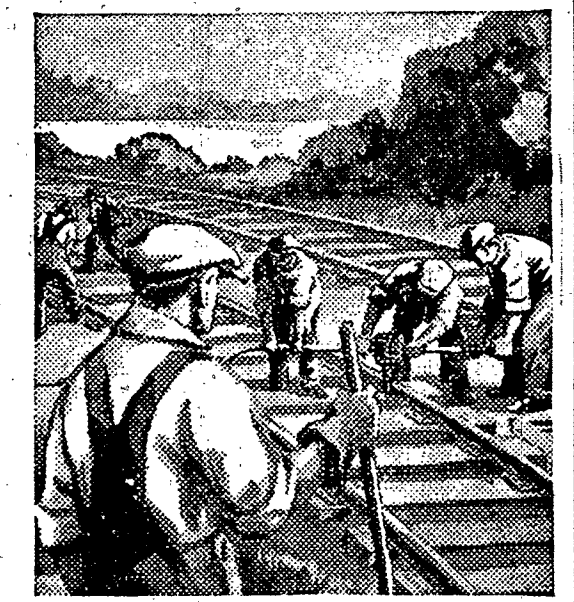

The house was knocked off its foundation and split in two, and the result was a mass of debris, splinters and ripped lumber. The store house was owned by Phil Washington. None of the three occupants of the car was injured.

No action has been taken against the youths, although Washington has filed a claim for damages.

NATCHEZ HOTEL DESTROYED BY FIRE TO BE REBUILT

Definite announcement is made by the owners of the Natchez (Miss.) hotel, recently destroyed by fire, will be replaced with a large, modern fireproof structure. Work of remodeling the new hotel annex, which escaped the flames, has been started, and the building, which has forty-six rooms, will be ready for use within three weeks.

Another appropriation FOR 25 Miles of Second Track costing $3,361,000

The great task of American railroad building goes uninterrupted on, evidencing itself in bettered road conditions, bettered equipment, and a constant and successful striving on the part of the steam carrier to provide superior freight and passenger service.

The tremendous investments—averaging more than $700,000,000 per year—on the part of the American railroads, not only keep busy the wheels of industry (American railroads are the largest buyers of steel, lumber, coal and many other essential products of the Nation), but they serve to demonstrate the determination on the part of railroad managements to further improve the service on a transportation system that is already the best in the World.

It will be of particular interest to the patrons of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad to learn that its appropriations, expended or authorized for the first nine months of 1926, amount to about $39,000,000. Such improvements, in addition to the second-track work pictured above, include additional locomotives and freight and passenger cars, and various other projects designed to improve its transportation system.

KILN NEWS ITEMS.

The teachers, who so successfully coached the stunt, Misses Cuevas, Halfacre, and Durrett, entertained the members of Van Landingham's orchestra at the Riverside Vardroom, Thursday night after the Pettibonian Literary society meeting.

On last Wednesday afternoon the eleventh and twelfth grades, accompanied by Mr. Powell, Mr. M. D. Broadfoot and Miss Dawson, were guided through the saw mill by Mr. "Pop" Seltzer and through the Planing mill by Mr. Henry Dandridge. The tour was very interesting and instructive.

Miss Rogers, head of the home economics department of the state, visited the Kiln school. She was very much pleased with the arrangement of the department.

Mr. M. D. Broadfoot, state supervisor of commercial work, was here Wednesday. He said that he was having calls from quite a few schools for part-time vocational classes.

Things are looking good for a boys' basketball team. We have so much stellar material that nobody's place is assured on the team. With a little more practice and straightening out of minor details we ought to be able to give a splendid account of ourselves almost anywhere.

Saturday evening the Kiln boys played a practice game with Sellers. Kiln showed up well even though three of the best players were out. The scores were 7-12 in favor of Sellers. They are going to play Sellers again Friday afternoon, Thanksgiving at noon on Kiln court. This game promises to be much more interesting than the first one since all the players can be present.

The new fiction for the library has come. Although the books came a long time ago, practical every student can be seen with a new book under his arm, reading at every spare minute. The reading is a part of the required English work but the students seem to be enjoying it thoroughly.

Mr. Powell had a pleasant surprise Friday afternoon. When he went in his office he hardly recognized it because the P. T. A. and the first year commercial class had placed curtains at the windows, a rug on the floor and had made it much more attractive.

Who Started Thanksgiving.

Nearly everybody celebrates on Thanksgiving Day with gorgeous feasting and the giving due thought to the significance of the day, and perhaps without even feeling real thankful for the many things which we are blessed.

This Thanksgiving season started many years ago and it is doubtful if the real origin of its observance is really known.

However, American Farming says: "Gov. Bradford, who ruled the Massachusetts colony back in the days when Miles Standish was their most dashing military captain—and their slowest wooer—is credited with originating our now national institution of Thanksgiving. After a winter of privation and sorrow, the Pilgrims had been blessed with a bountiful harvest, so in the fall of 1621 Gov. Bradford decreed there should be a season of feasting and thanks-giving. Generations later this fall festival became national in its observance.

"However, the custom of celebrating the success of the harvest threads back through early history into ancient times. When England was peopled by the Saxons, Harvest Home was an annual festival; the Romans paid homage to Ceres, the goddess of corn and harvests; the Greeks of an earlier age celebrated a feast called Thesmophoria, offering thanks to Demeter for the bounty of the harvest.

"The Hebrew feast of the tabernacles is of still earlier origin. It was instituted by Moses with one of the oldest thanksgiving proclamations of which we have any record.

"Thou shalt celebrate also the solemnity of the tabernacles, when thou hast gathered in the fruits of thy land, floor and of the wine press, commanded Moses. 'And thou shalt make merry in the festival time. . . Seven days shalt thou celebrate feasts to the Lord thy God in the place where the Lord shall choose; and the Lord thy God will bless thee in all the fruits and in every work of thy hand, and thou shalt be in joy.'

"In both the commanding of general thanksgiving for the bounty of the harvest and in declaring a feast of several days, the executive order of Moses antedated that of Gov. Bradford by more than 3,100 years. And who knows but what Moses got his idea from some earlier potentate!

"Regardless of its origin, colonial or ancient, the fall festival of thanksgiving for the bounty of the harvest is one of the most beautiful that has come down to us through tradition and history.

"Instead of a week, we now celebrate but one day—we couldn't stand more. However, we still cling to two features of Thanksgiving as instituted by good old Gov. Bradford—roast turkey and lively music. Our celebrations are "peppered" up with jazz; he was jazzed up with Indian war chants and dances."

Following out the idea of timber as a farm crop, let us see what it amounts to. In the first place, could we improve on Nature and grow more and better trees if we took care of the woods? Surely. As a matter of fact, there are comparatively few single acres in Nature's woods where the ground is fairly occupied—where there are as many trees as could be properly grown there. Over large areas, the stand of virgin timber certainly did not average over 12,000 board feet per acre. And the virgin timber was old, 150 to 350 years old. On the other hand, by taking proper care of his woods, the farmer can grow 15,000 board feet per acre in only 35 years. Quite an astonishing difference in the quantity of wood produced by Nature unaided on the one hand, and by Nature assisted by Man on the other.

Nature's Woods Are Full of Wood-Trees.

This difference in yield is not due entirely to the number of trees to the acre, although that is the main factor. As we go through the natural woods we see straight trees and crooked trees, hollow trees and sound trees, trees which would make good lumber and scrub trees which will remain scrubby and worthless as long as they stand. We see fire scorched trees and thrifty trees, kinds of trees whose wood is valuable and trees whose wood is inferior and non-salable regardless of how straight and free from defects the tree may be. All kinds of trees are mixed up together. When Man takes a hand, he can select Nature's best trees and cut out all the rest.

MAN'S UPWARD JOURNEY LARGELY CONTROLLED BY HUMAN EMOTIONS

The Abnormal Mind Is Unduly Sensitive, While the Normal Reacts Quickly to Adversity.

(Kansas City Star.)

What is the cause of success? At what price does it come? How is it that some can pay the price while others equally willing, cannot? These are questions that are answered by Dr. A. A. Brill, noted physician, expert on psychology and America's pioneer psychoanalyst.

"Big business men will tell you," he says, "that they have won fame and fortune by paying the price of success in industry, thrift, politeness, hard work, self-control, persistence, courage and the tireless following of inspiration. But the puzzling feature of success is not what it costs. How to get the ability to pay the price is what disturbs the ambitions, who plan to get ahead. That long unsolved puzzle, the secret of human alchemy, is a mystery no more.

"Success in life depends on the degree of emotional adjustment that a person possesses, his freedom from complexes or emotional sore spots that have never healed.

"A great industrial executive asserts that near geniuses are seldom winners. The truth of his view exists because of the fact that near geniuses are supersensitive, overly emotional. They cannot work on steadily, self-controlled, so are unreliable, often blow up.

"There are far greater differences in the field of emotional control than in the intelligence quotient of individuals. In other words, brains are pretty much alike, but temperaments not. Captains of industry and other successful persons possess a certain power that enables them to succeed. That power is the result of having from birth faced reality courageously.

Dodging Doesn't Pay.

"Human beings are doomed to fail who dodge and duck and squirm away from important situations, rather than stepping right up to meet them. The willingness to face things squarely marks the continuously successful man. Even if he squirms from only so-called trifles and from nothing else, yet in time the habit of dodging will grow upon him and sap his strength for the big tests of life.

"Let me take just one instance. A well known business man came to my office with the complaint that his nerves were all shattered. He could not sign checks except after a struggle of half an hour or so each time a batch was brought in to him. Yet he could not escape the duty, since he was known to be the active head of a large business. Sometimes he would get writer's cramp as soon as he saw a check to be signed. It worried him. He was losing weight and poise.

"Through psychoanalysis I learned that when he was starting on his business career he let a series of small temptations have their way with him. Finally, to obtain money to please a woman, he planned a forgery. With a check in front of him he had sat for hours and debated what to do. At last he did not forge the check and went on in his career to a point where he had forgotten the incident.

"The Roman Caesars understood this human need for outlets. When the population grumbled, the emperor staged a good gladiatorial contest, and a week or so viewing carnage, with free meals and plenty to drink thrown in, made the populace peaceful sufficed by brutality.

"On a higher plane, in order to keep our balance, we have created bypaths for the creative, aggressive, combative spirit by expression in comic strips, in books and in the drama, of immoral and plenty to drink thrown in, made the populace peaceful sufficed by brutality.

"Civilization calls upon man ever to renounce, renounce, renounce. He should do so only when he has, and then get rid of his emotion by turning to some socially countenanced outlet."

Forestry in Mississippi

By H. C. Mitchell, Extension Forester.

Farm Forestry

Among the great variety of farm exhibits seen at the fairs of the current year, an entirely new one, so far as we have observed, was shown by Mr. W. R. Berry of Simpson County. Along with samples of other crops grown on his farm, Mr. Berry proudly exhibited a pair of thrifty looking pine saplings.

Anyone would recognize the fact that forest trees are properly a farm crop if he would but stop to think about the matter. Forest trees have thus far been always with us, they grow after a fashion even though we take no particular care of them, and when a crop is accidentally produced without our aid we harvest the crop in much the same spirit that we would pick up a lost dollar on the street—just so much velvet.

Difference Between Natural and Cared-for Woods.

Following out the idea of timber as a farm crop, let us see what it amounts to. In the first place, could we improve on Nature and grow more and better trees if we took care of the woods? Surely. As a matter of fact, there are comparatively few single acres in Nature's woods where the ground is fairly occupied—where there are as many trees as could be properly grown there. Over large areas, the stand of virgin timber certainly did not average over 12,000 board feet per acre. And the virgin timber was old, 150 to 350 years old. On the other hand, by taking proper care of his woods, the farmer can grow 15,000 board feet per acre in only 35 years. Quite an astonishing difference in the quantity of wood produced by Nature unaided on the one hand, and by Nature assisted by Man on the other.

Nature's Woods Are Full of Wood-Trees.

This difference in yield is not due entirely to the number of trees to the acre, although that is the main factor. As we go through the natural woods we see straight trees and crooked trees, hollow trees and sound trees, trees which would make good lumber and scrub trees which will remain scrubby and worthless as long as they stand. We see fire scorched trees and thrifty trees, kinds of trees whose wood is valuable and trees whose wood is inferior and non-salable regardless of how straight and free from defects the tree may be. All kinds of trees are mixed up together. When Man takes a hand, he can select Nature's best trees and cut out all the rest.

INTERESTING ECHOES OF ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE FOR THE PAST WEEK

PEP MEETING AT STANISLAUS.

A monstrous bonfire is to be lit Friday night and from its flame those about are to embibe enough pep and fire for Saturday's game. The Cadets are coming strong and at last call, coming content of victory. The Rockchaws are not swelled up in the least, but are looking forward to the boasted drive of the embryo soldiers. The foes to date have all come with the intention of administering a trouncing but seemingly have met some obstacles that could not be overcome. (The public is invited to come to this pep meeting and everyone is going to endeavor to unite and form one big body of rooters.

POPLARVILLE.

With the close of the G. C. M. A. game there remains but one game on the Stanislaus schedule. The exciting day rings down, the curtain for 1926 on the last but not least of our season's games.

Poplarville always puts up a strong front and from advance information this year's squad is not an exception. Make your plans early for this day. A big crowd will be on hand and as the seating capacity of our field is limited you had better get there so that you can find a good seat.

GULF COAST-STANISLAUS.

The Stanislaus varsity football team is scheduled to play the Gulf Coast Military academy here Saturday afternoon at 2:30. This game is one of the gridders and it promises to be a great game.

The Gulfcoast student body will be present and they are going to do some rooting, so let's everybody get together and show them that we have the true Rockchaw spirit and that we are willing to yell our lungs out for old S. C.

STANISLAUS CELEBRATIONS.

Wednesday was Stanislaus Day, that is, a celebration of the feast of St. Stanislaus. Many good things had been prepared to make the day a memorable one when our old enemy Jubiter Plusus stepped in and destroyed almost everything.

Two things were untouched—the dinner and a great football game between Zeke's team and LaNasa's Hurricanes. Both of these teams are made up of "drugstore cowboys," pool sharks and lovers of the weed, that plays little wars and games. There is some good football material among them—don't you believe for an instant that it was any fluff-duff spree. No, brother, it was anything but that. Some were almost rude and threatened one another, were going to slap some one's wrist. One had to be warned about using language—well, that real cowboys and sailors are said to use.

As to the game, Levering, our adorable blonde, kicked pitifully to pet Joe McMeal, the center, the ball was so slow that Joe fumbled and "Saxie Saxe" recovered on his own 55-yard line.

The first quarter was brutally fought. The scars of battle were well borne by dear Frank Reyes, beloved Jas. Gatens, little Caspar Kramer and "Bandit" Kraus. Even for all that fustling, no score was made during that quarter.

The second quarter saw the ball rushed down the field into the Panther territory. Kenison was forced to punt from behind his own goal line. With terrific force his dainty toe met the hard pigskin and for this mighty effort the ball landed into the waiting arms of "Pug Genard," who returned it to the three-yard line.

Now, comes the tall and beautiful Levering to the rescue, all four downs were necessary to make that three yards. Levering kicked the extra point by a gorgeously well-placed drop-kick. The half ended here.

Both teams returned to the fray having recuperated their lost strength by the addition of a few Chesterfields. They must have burned a few because the ball remained in midfield throughout the third quarter. Towards the close of the quarter by a series of well executed passes and a few bucks the robust and stately Hurricane squad brought the ball to the twenty-yard line of the Panthers, where our distinguished looking blonde again came into to act with a drop kick from the 25-yard line.

The score was now 10 to 0 in favor of the Hurricanes. A few minutes after the whistle blew for dinner which was more important than a mere football game. The referee acquiesced and game was called.

Henry Bonura is called "Hawky" and why he has fever blisters on his lips since he came back from the L. S. U. game.

Sassone wants to take a trip to the south seas. A Leger is called baby. Frankie Springer can get sick so easily on imagination. Massengill is called "beautiful child."

Rinaldo doesn't want to get in the "Echo" this week. "Sour Kraut" doesn't wear his class ring like the rest of us. Uhry doesn't collect in the poolroom any more.

Sassone enjoyed the show last Tuesday. Such a large crowd was around McDuff last Wednesday. Gray was so reluctant about paying for a certain pool game. Suitcase Simpson (alias J. Hall Le Blanc) is so hard on shoes. Joe McMeal made a ringer in the poolroom last week.

IMPORTANT. McDuff wishes to announce that he doesn't believe in Santa Claus any more.

WE SAY SO. Bradley: What's correct, I am a fool or I am a fool? Naylor: I am a fool. Bradley: Correct.

FIGURE THIS OUT. If they shot a man like Abraham Lincoln what should they do to McCarley?

THE BRIDGE BUILDER.

An old man going along a highway
Came at evening cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim;
The swollen stream had no fear for him.
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Old man," said a fair pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your time with building here.
You never again will pass this way;
Your journeys will end with the coming day.
You have crossed the chasm deep and wide;
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head:
"Good friend on the path I have come," he said,
"There followed after me today
A youth who must pass this way.
This chasm that has been as naught to me
To that fair-haired youth a pitfall may be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim.
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

FINDS WAY TO AVOID MUSCLE-LAMENESS

Athlete has simple method of keeping in perfect form

Athletes and trainers know how painful and disabling muscle-lameness can be. And they, more than almost anyone else, can tell you the best way to overcome it.

"In my training work as an athlete," writes Frank B. Conover, of 176 South St., Jersey City, N. J., "I have used Sloan's Liniment for the past five years and found it most effective for soreness caused by vigorous exercise. Also an incomparable remedy for stiff neck."

It is marvelous how aches and stiffness in lame muscles yield to the magic of Sloan's. Just a little rubbed on lightly and healing, never blisters through the hurt place.

"Away go 'fatigues-poisons.' Sore muscles limber up and stop aching. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents."

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

As the Children of Mary filed into the second room for a meeting at 11:30 a.m. Monday, a most pleasing sight met their gaze. The dead had been transformed into a miniature altar. The lovely statue of our Lady stood in the midst of a veritable bower of roses and ferns, while the dim light of two candles shed a soft radiance over all.

Their devotion heightened by so lovely a scene the girls proceeded to recite the praises of their Mother in the lovely prayers of the little office of the Blessed Virgin. A business meeting then followed, during which many things of interest to the Sodas were discussed. The meeting as a whole proved most successful.

EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA!

On Tuesday afternoon, during free period, there came a mysterious summons for all of the seniors, poor girls. They nearly died of fright, for the unwelcome carrier of the tidings with a very woe-begone face, declared that Sister seemed very much displeased. The girls filed slowly out each one trying her best to be the last. They finally reached the library, and a particularly brave senior slowly pushed the door open. Then there were at least a hundred cries of joy and a wild, wild rush toward Sister, so that it is a never ceasing wonder that she wasn't crushed then and there, for instead of doing out the expected scolding—what do you think Sister wanted?—nothing else than to let us out on our own and gowns. What a great relief and a glorious surprise all in one. Such a bedlam and what unheard of comments as issued from the library door for the next half hour it would be impossible to state. The excitement, however, proved too much for us and we were unable to bear all of this in one day and as a result, nearly all of the girls fared badly in their chemistry test and got the scolding after all.

A SOUTHERN CINDERELLA. Work on a Southern Cinderella has now begun in earnest. All of the parts have been assigned to the players and we predict this will be a most interesting and successful play. We urge all to come and see it.

FOLKS, BEWARE! "Gracious! What in the world is that coming into the classroom?" was the one question asked by the stricken seniors, as the door opened and something resembling a pompadour entered. Each girl clung to her neighbor and begged for the queer creature to be taken out of sight, even Sister seemed to shrink under her look. Finally, one of the courageous seniors volunteered to inspect the strange creature. And, lo, and behold! What do you think she found? Under the mass of waves was no one else but our own dear classmate, Margaret. Now, Be feels better, she's not the only queer species in the classroom.

COLDS AND PEPPERMINT. It's too bad about colds, isn't it? We just know you would think so too—if you could have witnessed the discomfiture of many of the girls from the freshmen class up as they were vainly trying to hide extra large sticks of peppermint candy from Sister, in any and every available place. Everyone knows how soothing peppermint is to a coughing throat—only Sister does not seem to think so.

OUR FUTURE ACROBAT! At last Anna has decided upon her vocation—it's to be an acrobat! Any one witnessing her great stunt of last week would have proclaimed her an adept at it already. That's not saying anything about the expression on her face—which proved her an actress as well as an acrobat. Ask Evelyn and Alberta—they know.

DRAW YOUR OWN CONCLUSIONS ABOUT—Why Vivian doesn't wear her class ring any more. Why elderberries have become Theda's favorite. Why Margaret felt so badly Monday.

Why Bee went to the game Tuesday. What happened to the front bumper of Anna's car. Why Evelyn longs to visit Hawaii. Why Mary can't wait for graduation.

Why the sophomores were so anxious to write for The Echo. Why Alberta claims she is lucky. Why Sallie Mae failed to study religion Wednesday.

Why Lois went out for basket ball. What Hazel thinks of algebra. Why Ita Kate gave up eating potatoes.

Why Erin doesn't get her hair cut. Why Lila doesn't go out more often. Where Dolores got all her instructions. Why Anna Mae is kept so busy writing at 12 o'clock.

HONOR ROLL. Seniors—Eryn Saucier, Vivian Blaise, Anna Le Jeune, Evelyn Boh, Alberta Beyer, Mary Bourgeois, Beatrice Smith, Lila Glennon. Juniors—Lois Hobbs, Sallie Mae Akhinson.

Sophomores—Mary Pierce, Anna Dale Crawford, Kathleen Renshaw, Verna Batson, Lucille deArmas, Hazel Kergosien.

Freshmen—Gretude Partridge, Ione Canty, Anna Mae Blaise, Emma Smith, Juanita Payard, Vivian Egloff, Dolores Powers, Theresa Ward, Dorothy Hubbard, Pansy Cajoles, Lily Gilkey, Velma Zargaring.

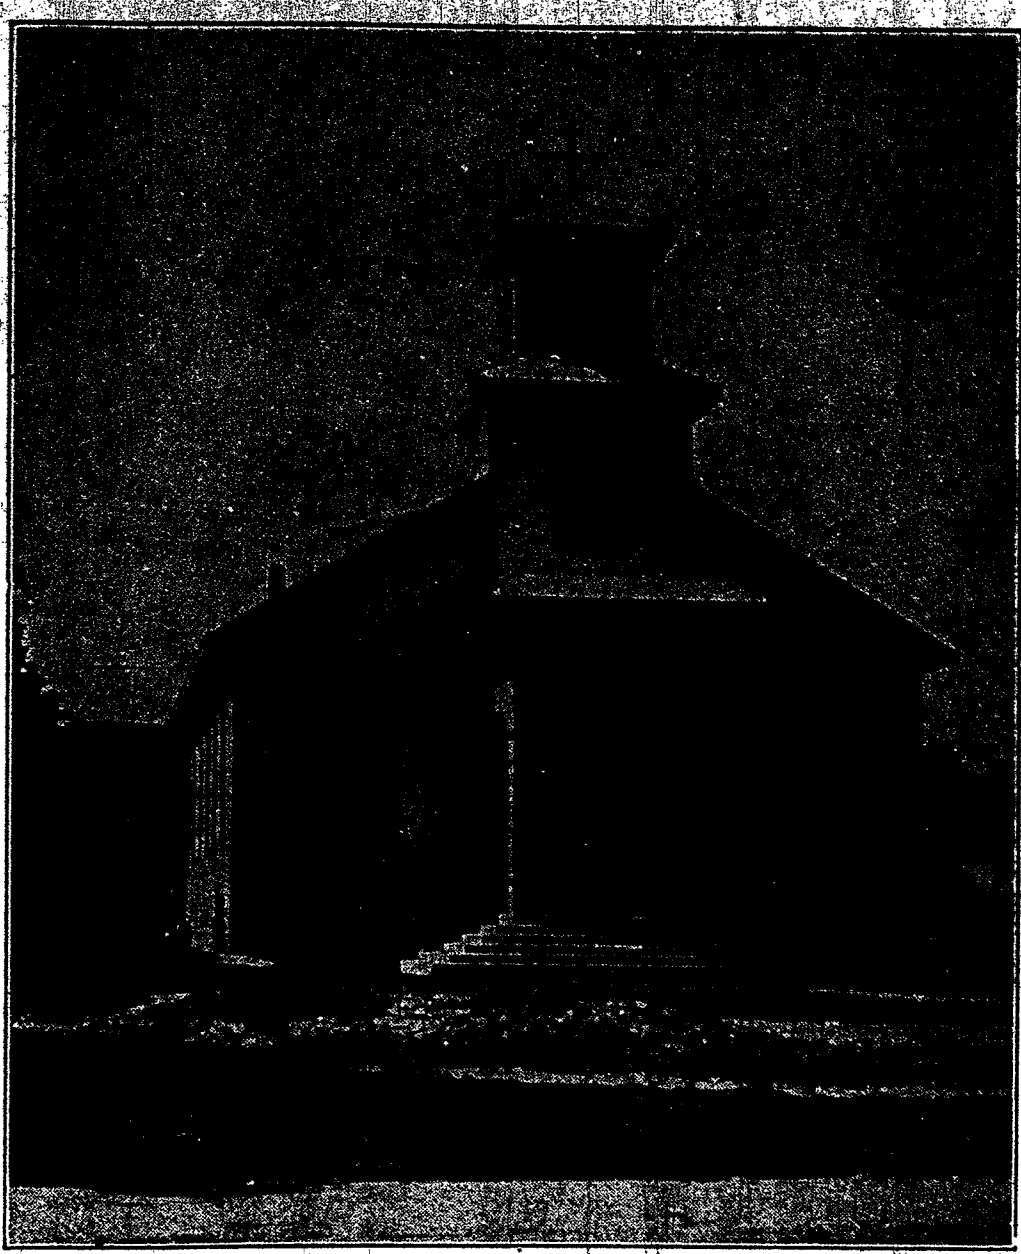

Eighth Grade—Eloise Quintini, Julie Boudin, Lucia Lince, Marie Quintini, Alice Lee Byrnes, Janie Todd, Dorcas Williams.

Seventh Grade—Mildred Schindeldecker, Katherine Redding, Nola Lizana, Yvonne Strong, Helen Wolfe, Majorie Banderet, Henrietta Pienne, Yvonne Lacoste, Antoinette Partridge, Elsie Graham, Power, Elsie Lizana, Margaret Larose, Catherine Benvenette, Grace Redding, Alice Feeney, Carrie Schiro, Hilda Grevenberg, Vivian Heitzman.

SAINT ROSE DE LIMA HAS DEDICATION.

Sunday, Nov. 14, was a gala day for St. Rose de Lima's local parish when the Rt. Rev. Bishop Gerow, D. D., dedicated its new and much-admired church, and the fact that the edifice was built and furnished exclusively by members of the congregation added a special significance, as well as an increase of pride to the celebration.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop lent himself wholly and wholeheartedly to the congregation for the entire day. He was the celebrant at the early mass during which forty-one boys and girls received their first solemn communion.

The dedication took place at 9 a.m. The Knights of Peter Claver, who had previously marched through town, led the procession that escorted the bishop into the church. There, in inspiring solemnity that deeply touched the faithful, the product of the congregation's labor was dedicated as a tabernacle of God. Solenn high mass followed after this, at which the bishop presided with the Very Rev. Wolf, S. V. D., the superior of the society's southern missions acting as celebrant. He was assisted by Rev. Stieg, S. V. D., Rev. Hagan, S. V. D., with Rev. Keller, S. V. D., as master of ceremonies. The celebrant preached the sermon in which he appropriately named the church as our home in the trust and highest sense.

At 12 o'clock there was a banquet in the house, beautifully decorated by the hostess, bishop presiding and ten priests were present.

At 4 p.m., to the majestic strains of Sorin's "Ecce Sacerdos" the bishop, together with the candidates for confirmation, came into the church. After examining the candidates the bishop lauded the congregation for the self-sacrificing spirit in which they had built the church and he exhorted them to remain faithful and true to their Holy Mother, the Catholic church.

A word of praise must go out to the choir for its effective rendering of Leonhard's mass in E flat and the "Sacerdos Magnus." Their successful efforts contributed in no mean way to the brilliance of the event.

It is now three years since the society of the Divine Word has taken up the colored work at Bay St. Louis, and since that time the projects that the parish, under the strong and steady guidance of its pastor, Rev. X. Baltes, S. V. D., has accomplished is remarkable. A church, school, rectory and convent are now standing on ample grounds.

This handsome church building was designed and built by Joseph Labat, local architect and builder, whose work will speak for itself. It is attractively built and proportioned and constructed solidly, concrete and cement forming an integral factor throughout. Jos. Labat's work is all to his credit.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS.

Keeping Pace With Mississippi

THE $1,700,000 telephone construction program planned for this year, to keep pace with the growth of Mississippi is making splendid progress.

During the first six months, gross additions and replacements costing more than $432,000 were completed. Similar work to be completed this year will amount to more than $1,000,000.

There was a net gain of 2,317 new telephones in the State during the first six months, which was 500 in excess of the estimated gain.

New long distance circuits, reconstruction and improvements this year will represent an expenditure of more than $393,000.

This activity is resulting in more and better service for the State and the South, and is designed to care for your present needs, as well as to provide for future growth.

—J. V. Munch, of Mobile, spent the week-end here visiting friends and relatives. Mr. Munch came from New Orleans after his departure from here, and before returning to Mobile from where he will depart soon for Knoxville, Tenn., and sections in Virginia.

—Dr. C. M. Shipp, county health officer, is spending the week in Atlanta, Ga., attending a southern medical convention, and from the press we see he is actively participating in the deliberations of the convention, vice-president, presided at the Rotary meet Wednesday night in the absence of President Shipp.

—Mrs. D. Daugmont left her Waveland home today for New Orleans, where she will visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. Eggle, until after the Christmas holidays. Mrs. and Mrs. L. Eggle, well-known in Waveland, moved into their handsome new home, recently completed.

—Johnny Ashcraft, of Miami, Fla., is spending a vacation in Bay St. Louis, visiting Mrs. Ashcraft, formerly Miss Celine Fayard, daughter of Mrs. Octave Fayard. Mrs. Ashcraft is teaching in the primary department of the Bay High school and will continue teaching this session.

—Mr. and Mrs. Max T. Kohler were week-end visitors to the beach home, coming over from New Orleans. Members of their house party were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gluck and Mr. and Mrs. Sontheimer. They plan to visit their charming and attractive beach home frequently during the winter months.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Weston, of Logtown, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Louise, to Mr. Herbert Hadden Robinson, which happy event will take place at Cooper's chapel, Logtown, on the evening of Tuesday, Nov. 30th, at 6 o'clock. The couple will reside in Birmingham, Ala.

—While at the K. C. home Sunday night, Arthur A. Scalfie had the misfortune to sustain about $150.00 damage to his auto while parked in front of the place in Main street. It appeared that a colored boy, named "Buddy," leaning into the rear and side of the Scalfie car. His identity was disclosed the next morning, but unable to pay the damage.

BAY CITY LOSES BY DEATH WELL KNOWN RESIDENT

Victor Camors, Residing at Cedar Point, Retired From Business, Passed Away Thursday Morning—Interment at New Orleans.

The death of Victor Camors, which occurred at the family residence at Cedar Point on Thursday morning at 8:20 o'clock, was received with widespread sorrow, and his passing away is a subject of general regret.

Mr. Camors was a native of New Orleans, where his father was known as a most successful flour merchant, and which business he was later associated and continued for a while. He became connected with many business enterprises, a most energetic and successful man, his business acumen soon brought him success and his commercial activities extended through many channels.

He was vastly and substantially interested in Bay St. Louis, improving business between New Orleans and Lake Pontchartrain points and at the time of his death his business was more active in this branch, although the past few years he undertook no active concern in the conduct of these.

It was primarily for this reason he moved to Bay St. Louis a few years ago. His health in a precarious condition, on advice of his physician he moved here in order he might find succor from business concern, and a haven for rest and general quietude. His health in Bay St. Louis improved, and last summer, with his family, he traveled abroad and spent much time in France, Switzerland and other countries. However, he suffered from an incurable malady of the heart, and it was inevitable his ailment would exact the ultimate toll.

Mr. Camors was 63 years of age, and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Yvonne Loeliger, and a young son and young daughter. Remains were shipped over the L. & N. train yesterday morning and interment at Metairie cemetery on arrival of train.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of many friends, both in Bay St. Louis, New Orleans and elsewhere.

—Mayor G. Y. Blaize issued a proclamation, asking business houses to close this afternoon between the hours of 2:30 to 5 o'clock, in honor of many visitors who will witness the football game of St. Stanislaus vs. Gulf Coast Military Academy.

—The Echo learns with more than ordinary interest the convalescence of its good friend, H. S. Renshaw, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at Toussaint Hospital, New Orleans, where he is still confined. Mrs. Renshaw is with him.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Drackett and interesting children returned home during the week from a ten-day visit to Mr. Drackett's parents at Morgan City, La., where they formerly resided. They made the trip to and fro by auto, leaving in their Ford and returning in a handsome and attractive Pontiac closed-in model of green shade. Mr. Drackett enjoyed a well-earned vacation.

—A message from Rev. J. G. Galloway, former pastor of Main Street Methodist church, is to the effect that both he and Mrs. Galloway are charmingly domiciled at Crystal Springs, Miss., where they will reside in future, and where Mrs. Galloway, as in Bay St. Louis, will grow the largest and prettiest flowers, and, by no means, least, the most wondrous-looking dahlias.

—Mr. E. F. Schmike, residing opposite the courthouse, and local realtor, has moved to New Orleans, where his family preceded him some time ago. He is an attaché of the New Orleans Canine Racing association, as is Mrs. George J. Toca and Mr. Milton Phillips, all of Bay St. Louis. The enterprise is meeting with much success in New Orleans, and the city is turning out nightly in large numbers to view the grayhounds catch the rabbit.

—Mr. and Mrs. Horace Whitfield, the former young and progressive son of County Assessor E. Van Whitfield, has returned to Bay St. Louis, after a residence of several years in Mobile, Ala., and purchased the bottling works from Victor Guivas in Washington and Third street, which he will conduct in future, developing the business to its fullest extent. Their return to Bay St. Louis is welcome and it is certain prosperity will reward his efforts.

—Mrs. S. "Tony" Ladner and daughters, Misses Muriel and Iris, accompanied by the latter's grandmother, Mrs. Roetge, have returned to New Orleans, where they will reside in future. Mrs. Ladner was in business, corner Goodchildren and Hancock streets, for several years, following her husband's death, but finally closed out and moved to the city where she lived prior to her marriage. Friends will read of her removal with more than ordinary regret.

—It is noted with interest the progress apparent in the construction of the new Bay St. Louis Central school, a structure to represent an outlay of $80,000.00 when finished, and a credit to the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast. It was originally planned, before the contract was let, occupancy would be possible after the Christmas holidays, but like big bodies, great projects move slowly and the magnificent new school building in this respect is no exception. Its earliest completion is anticipated, and it promises to be a credit to the city. Mr. E. Nolan is architect and John T. McDonald and Joseph Favre—contractors and builders.

—There was quite a little excitement in the department store of Jos. O. Mauffray, in the dry goods section. Mr. Mauffray's daughter, as assistant to the sales force, noticed a woman, wearing a high evening dress, come into the store, and the moment she saw the bag that had been carried flat shape was soon in curling proportions. Miss Mauffray felt certain the woman was shoplifting and insisted the contents of the bag be shown, the contents of which was a white dress, and a small bag. The woman from the store, broke down and had nothing to do but confess. She was allowed to go with the assurance that she would not be arrested, and other stores notified.

AMERICAN LEGION SEEKS TO EXTEND WORK OF SERVICE

American Legion Posts and Auxiliary Units Are Urged to Increase Membership in Order More Constructive Program May Be Carried Out.

BY BEN HILBUN, Echo Correspondent.
Jackson, Miss., Nov. 19.—American Legion Posts and Auxiliary Units are serving the communities where they are located, according to information reaching department headquarters at Jackson. The Legion and its auxiliary organizations pledge to sponsor and assist in constructive programs for the community, state and nation.

Many posts and auxiliary units have raised splendid contributions to various causes already and the new legion year is just beginning. Cash contributions to charitable and benevolent causes, assisting parent-teacher associations and other school organizations, securing any relief possible for disabled veterans and their families, and some of the services being rendered by these organizations.

A drive for membership was launched November 11. The Legion and auxiliary are seeking additional members in order that these organizations may increase in usefulness, realizing that they are of inestimable service to the state in peace times, the ex-service men of Mississippi are reorganizing for the purpose of continuing their patriotic services. Department headquarters is urging all posts to elect officers, and conduct a vigorous membership campaign this fall so that a full year can be devoted to constructive work.

Former Resident Dies.

Joseph Henry Burk, former resident of the south beach front, in one of the Bokenhof places, died at an early hour Tuesday morning at the home on his country estate near Baton Rouge, La., to which place he had retired from active business with the hope of resting and recuperating. The funeral took place Thursday morning from the New Orleans residence in Louisiana avenue, Parkway, and was one of the most largely attended funerals witnessed in New Orleans. Although it was requested to omit flowers, there was an unusual wealth of floral tributes, well attesting to the popularity and high esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was in Masonic cemetery.

Mr. Burk is survived by his widow, Miss Josephine B. Danos before her marriage, and a number of grown children, one of whom is Mrs. Osmond Green, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Green, of Bay St. Louis. The deceased was a native of New Orleans, aged 58 years.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Services will be held at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Sunday, Nov. 21, at 2:30 p.m. Sunday school at 10 a.m. and Monday at 10 a.m. Elder John E. de Haan, of Ogden, Utah, and Elder Reulon L. Anderson, of Green River, Wyo., will be the speakers. The public is invited.

Card to the Public.

I wish, through this medium, to announce to the public that I have sold my shoe store to Jas. Di Benedetto, who will continue same. I wish to ask the public a continuance of the liberal patronage which was accorded me, knowing Mr. Di Benedetto will strive to merit same. I thank one and all who favored me, for their good wishes and advice.

Respectfully,
O. T. ARNOLD,
"Arnold's Shoe Store."
November 20, 1926.

Anderson-Osoinach.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Osoinach were most agreeably surprised Saturday to learn of the marriage of their accomplished daughter, Cleo, to Mr. A. G. Anderson, a resident of Sacramento, Calif., which happy event was quietly celebrated in New Orleans at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ballard. After spending a few days in New Orleans Mr. and Mrs. Anderson came out to Bay St. Louis, where they are spending a few days, planning to leave tomorrow for their future home in Sacramento, where he is prominently connected in business, one of many younger and promising men building the greater west and more so the golden state of California.

The bride is most charming and accomplished, a young woman of ennobling ideals and endearing personality. The Echo unites with many friends in best wishes.

On his promise to give up a correspondence course, on Nov. 17, at New York, has been freed of a charge of violating the law against carrying concealed weapons. Otto shot himself in the knee while following a lesson, dealing with the correct handling of a revolver.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES.

LES BOHEMIENNES.
Already preparations are set afoot in the interest of the annual holiday ball given by the young ladies' local organization, known as Les Bohemiennes, and two meetings of members of the organization held—one last week and the other Wednesday night, the latter to decide on the model of a uniform costume.

Each year the costume and callout ball is given on a date between Christmas and New Years, but this season precedent will not hold. Christmas night is the date selected, and general favor and individual satisfaction in this selection is expressed. It is said the organization has a more numerous membership than ever. The ball will take place at the fashionable Bay-Waveland clubhouses and invitations issued in due time.

MRS. CARRERE HONORS TWO GUESTS.

Mrs. Edw. Carrere was hostess at the Hotel Weston Thursday afternoon at a luncheon-bridge, in honor of Mrs. Ernest Clark, of Chicago, house guest of Mrs. J. N. Wisner, and Miss of Mrs. A. F. Fournier, on the Waveland beach front. The party of three tables was one of much charm and beauty and resultant of an afternoon of unforgettable pleasure. The color scheme of decoration was white and gold, an affectionately and harmoniously brought out with white and yellow chrysanthemums.

A SHOWER HONORING MISS WESTON.

The fashionable Cozy Corner was the scene of a most interesting affair Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Alvah P. Smith and Miss Aline Ransan jointly entertained at a "kitchen shower" in compliment to Miss Dorothy Weston, who will become the bride of Mr. H. H. Robinson on the 30th inst. A luncheon of several courses, followed by bridge, was served, and afternoon between the game was marked with the arrival of a tray piled high with packages. This continued until the many presents, forming the shower, had been received. It was discovered there were numerous remembrances, nifty and particularly outstanding inasmuch each showed thought and selection.

Miss Weston is a much-feted bride-elect and the "shower" by Mrs. Smith and Miss Ransan was one of the prominent of the number given.

The guests included Misses Dorothy Weston, Mary Perkins, Margaret Green, Irene Weston, Lucile Weston, Ethel Otis, Ethel Gex, Hilda Spori, Roger Boh, C. Shipp, W. Partridge, Elsie Spori, Caro Weston, Evelyn Lacoste, Louise Crawford, Mesdames Victor Camors, Donald Marshall, W. J. Chapman, Will Chapman, Kenneth Borden, Sarah Powers, C. C. McDonald, Horace Kergosien, Mrs. Russell, John Smith, Mrs. Over, Leo Seals, Chas. G. Moreau, Herbert Canty, Ernest Drackett, Rene de Montluzin, W. J. Harrison, Milton Phillips, Owen Crawford, Geo. R. E. J. Lacoste, and Misses John E. J. Lacoste, Walter Lomax, Clem Fenrose, A. F. Fournier, Clem Weston, Harold Weston, John Weston, V. Dell, Walter Dupiquier, Miss Marcel Lolager.

Mrs. A. F. Fournier, always a delightful and successful hostess, entertained Saturday afternoon at bridge-luncheon at the Hotel Weston, in compliment to her delightful houseguest, Miss Adams, of Cleveland, O.

Mrs. Harry G. Glover has issued invitations to a bridge party, to be given at the "Cozy Corner" Tuesday night, November 23, at 2 o'clock, at Mrs. Adams' residence.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Weston at Logtown on Tuesday night were host and hostess to a delightful buffet supper, complimenting Miss Dorothy Weston, whose marriage to Mr. Herbert Robinson, of Birmingham, Ala., will take place at Logtown on the 30th inst., a most fashionable event of the season.

After supper was served an unknown explorer appeared and announced he had discovered a quantity of stones. Choosing Miss Weston to accompany him, they found in an adjoining room a coal mine, which finally turned out to be a spot where packages of towels and handkerchiefs had fallen.

The interesting facts disclosed that every day the explorer sent a supply of handkerchiefs and the gentlemen, towels. In all, both supper and shower proved unusually interesting, and the affair noted for its beauty of arrangement, and general entertainment.

The guests list included Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Clem W. Weston, Mrs. M. E. Weston, Miss Dorothy L. Weston, Miss Irene Weston, Miss Lucille Weston, Miss Caro Weston, Miss Mary Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal, Mr. and Mrs. Will Chapman, Mr. J. O. Otis, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Otis, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Otis, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Russ, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Chapman, Mr. A. C. Weston, Mr. C. L. Weston, Mr. H. C. Weston, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Weston and Mr. Cony Weston.

TO ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Weston, of Logtown, will entertain at their fine home in Logtown at a buffet supper, in complimentary to Miss Dorothy Weston, who will wed Mr. Herbert Robinson on the evening of Wednesday, the 30th inst., and to take place on Monday evening, November 29th.

TWO BLACK WOLVES ARE SLAIN NEAR FERRIDAY, LA.

Arthur Swagze, of Jonesville, near Ferriday, La., killed two large black wolves near his home last week. He shot one Tuesday and the other Friday. Wolves have been preying on live stock in that neighborhood for the last few weeks, and the planters are on the lookout for them.

MISS. COAST CLUB GETS RECOGNITION

Warren Jackson, President Mississippi Coast Club Made Director in American Travel Development Association.

The effective advertising and publicity issued under the auspices of the Mississippi Coast Club during recent months has resulted in national recognition of the organization by the American Travel Development Association, a national body in which membership is limited to organizations not organized for profit, having a paid secretary or manager who is devoting his time to community advertising and having appropriations for newspaper and magazine advertising for the development of travel.

Recognition of the Coast Club comes in the form of the election to membership in the board of directors of the association of Warren Jackson, executive manager of the club. The objects of the association include a program of enlistment of government funds for the development of national travel, the enlistment of cooperation of the national press, newspapers and magazines, the Associated Press, the United Press, International News, American Newspaper Association, Periodical Publishers' association and other media for securing publicity.

The meeting at which Jackson was elected a director occurred in St. Louis on November 12. Jackson was prevented from attending the meeting by the pressure of the details of the program and budget campaign, just now successfully closing, but despite his absence his election was unanimous. His official notice of election reached him this morning.

The board of directors of the travel development association is a very representative group with country-wide affiliations.
